123	I think that they could make you feel more welcome. They have a leadership program and they try to make people happy but the students really just want to be apart of it. Teachers do a good job, but they are not getting the amount of questions they should from students. Either because the students are scared or they just want to go and don't care about what happens once its over.	4/24/2015 2:27 PM
124	one thing the school could do to support me better is not getting into my bussinse. i find it annoying, and stupid.	4/24/2015 2:27 PM

131	One thing my school can do to support me would be to start school earlier and give us 1 more day of the weekend. Also if the school could like actually give good decent lunch, that would be greatly appreciated! Also if we could maybe like go to the bathroom more than 3 times in the trimester! Like what if you really have to go to the bathroom but you have already used 3 passes! That's it!:)	4/24/2015 2:23 PM

Recently, a group of students got in trouble for laking pills on school property, and the people giving the consequences, and favorited one student, thus her punishment was biased as not as bad in comparison to others. I find this so absurd and stupid. It doesn't display respect and it shows a great deal of disrespect. The students do see this, me included, and we do have a right to say what we feel, and when it comes to this, i feel very negative about it. I think we should either bring back support classes, or have the choice of 2 electives. I'm not telling the truth when I say that the double math period is the main reason I don't look forward to school every day. (we only need 1!)	4/24/2015 8:40 AM

1	My mom taught elem school 15 years ago in CA. I recently looked at these 1st gr level workbooks. The curriculum is more advanced than what my 2nd grader is doing now. What a shame.	5/4/2015 8:26 AM
2	The communication from the district around the redistricting plans and "suggested scenarios" has been very poor. It as been a flawed process.	4/22/2015 12:09 PM
3	Since the total budget is never enough to cover everything, the school and district must prioritize items that improve education. Cosmetic improvements are nice to have, but should be done only after student education is optimized.	4/21/2015 5:39 PM
4	The beginning of the school year was interrupted by teachers political arguments and was often interrupting the normal class, kids where concern about teacher instead learning	4/20/2015 10:33 PM
5	I would like to see the front gates closed during the school day, to enforce visitors to go thru the office. Often I see parents just walk in w/o going thru office.	4/17/2015 11:50 AM
6	I would definitely like me hands on training from my students classes, in order to help when they are struggling. my students teachers are lacking in School work and homework.	4/16/2015 10:59 AM
7	Landels does not have a written student handbook. Other schools in the district do. Parents and students should have access to written, clear expectations.	4/15/2015 11:43 AM
8	I would like to see the learning needs of advanced students specifically and explicitly addressed in the District's goals. At a very general level, student academic ability can be charted on a normal statistical curve - our traditional bell type curve with two tails. We have many programs for those students at the lower tail of the curve, and we should. It is also crucial to challenge and address the special needs of those students at the higher end of the spectrum - our advanced students. I am saddened and concerned not to see these students explicitly mentioned in any District goals. They are also deserving of District resources including specialized teacher training and special programming in, and possibly outside of, school. We do not want to lose these students because their needs and interests are not being met. We know advanced students can lose interest in school and even exhibit behavioral problems when they are not challenged. Plus, these students deserve to have their needs met so they too can meet their true potential. Engaging our advanced students should also contribute to higher test scores for those students and the District.	4/3/2015 6:28 AM
9	The school tries . . .	4/2/2015 9:39 AM
10	Yes, I can't stress the need for class size decrease enough!!	4/1/2015 8:35 PM
11	There has been a lot of bad feeling about the district lately	4/1/2015 4:20 PM
12	Our school is great but I struggle with the lack of transparency from the District and School Board. While yes, everything on this list sounds great, it all comes at a cost. One that the district isn't willing to pay for so great plans in theory but as we all know theory only gets you so far.	4/1/2015 2:11 PM
13	It would be nice to have more choice of foreign languages in middle school!	4/1/2015 2:05 PM
14	there should be more resources for children who are below average. My 5th grader is at a second grade level! He just continued to pass from grade to grade without the support he needed. I was told the reading program at the beginning of the year was not available because he was not "low" enough! Any child below average should have additional support!!!!	4/1/2015 12:33 PM
15	There has been improvement in district communications/opportunities for involvement, but it is not (yet?) as smooth as school level communication/involvement.	4/1/2015 11:27 AM
